Curator and balzerARTprojects' director, Isabel Balzer, describes "Rock-Paper-Scissors:" "In this exhibition artists are brought together from different cultural and artistic backgrounds – moving on the common ground of visual representation.

As much as the game, the medium paper – in the context of visual representation, its necessity for daily existence and its potential for visual versatility is key to each artist's work. At the same time, fragility and ephemerality are being highlighted by playing with the medium. Text and language, inseparable from paper, permeate each artist's work."
